COW'S HEAD BRAND OF SWISS MILKS.

SWEETENED AND UNSWEETENED.

All Full Cream, Guaranteed Absolutely PURE.

Reprint from "The Lancet," September 14th, 1901.—
"We have previously reported upon a sample of condensed milk prepared by the Swiss Milk Society which, unlike the present sample, contained no added sugar. There is no doubt that the addition of sugar to condensed milk is in most cases excessive. On the contrary, when this preparation is diluted to a desirable strength by adding, for example, three parts of water to one part of milk there is hardly any sweet taste of added sugar perceptible. The preparation is quite fluid, and does not crystallise. The milk is sterile, and contains no chemical preservatives. The flavor is good, and typical of rich grass milk."

This is the finest and purest milk to be had, and is most suitable for invalids and children; it is without that objectionable taste that most condensed milks have.

BUBONIC PLAGUE.

HOW TO DESTROY RATS !!

BUBONIC PLAGUE is a Disease among Rats and Mice, and they being migrating animals the infection is carried from house to house. It matters not how perfect the Sanitary Arrangements may be, if Rats and Mice are permitted to remain about the Premises the disease can be contracted. The best safeguard is to destroy Rats and Mice.

NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE.

This is the only preparation ever compounded which will effectually rid your house of these pests, as well as keep the premises free from them.

All that is necessary to do is to sprinkle the powder about where rats and mice frequent, inside the holes or between floors. The rats eat it and then seek the sewers for water, when death is produced.

With NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE it is not necessary to mix with any other substance to induce the animals to eat it, but sprinkle about according to the directions, and the Rat Cheese does the rest.

The Rats will not die in the House after Eating NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE.

RATS AND MICE SPREAD DISEASES.

The fact has been scientifically established that rats and mice not only carry Bubonic Plague but also other infectious diseases, like Smallpox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, etc. So the best protection against all such dangers is to keep rats and mice away from your house by using Newton's Rat Cheese. It is such a convenient article to use, no mixing with other substances is necessary.

See that you get the genuine NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE.

Morgan, and Llewellyn all came within an ace of scoring, the first-named after a brilliant effort, and Owens, too, only missed scoring on one occasion by inches. Time after time the Welsh forwards booted their way through their burler opponents, but the Scotch defence was very sound, and no trangle point was added by either side since the interval. Final score: Wales, one goal three tries; Scotland, one goal.

Wales won as the result of superbly brilliant play in every department. They were better than the Scotsmen forward, half, three-quarter, and full back. Before the game, the Welshmen were all in the Scottish scrumming, but before the game was ten minutes old all doubt on this score was dispelled, for only one of the home forwards bent the formidable opponents in the right scrum, but they were also excellent, then at their own game, i.e., footwork. Chiefly as a result to the grand work being done in front, the Welsh backs had many chances during the opening stages, so that the fact that scoring came quickly by did not create much surprise. After the game, George Boots, who was appointed leader of the Welsh forwards, stated it as his opinion that Saturday's set of forwards was the best that had ever represented the Principality, a view with which other members of the Welsh eight concurred. The Scotch forwards all strove manfully, Mark Morrison, Greenless, and D. Beil-Stewart particularly, but they were beaten by a better pack, whose perfect condition enabled them to stay right up to the very last moment. Brier, Hodges, Harding, and Boots were the best of the Welsh eight. At half and three-quarter again Scotland were altogether outplayed and outmanoeuvred. Gillespie and Fison adopted spilling tactics very successfully at first, but, later on, Owens outwitted them every time, and, indeed, the little Swansen half played a game that will be talked of for years to come. Despite pessimistic forebodings, he and Lloyd combined admirably. Nicholls was the best of the Welsh three-quarters, but Gabe, Llewellyn, and Morgan were all brilliant. Timms and Welsh were the best of the Scotch three-quarters, and the latter's try was perhaps the best of the match. He beat Steward-Jones rather cheaply, the Oxonian not being up to the form he showed in the English match. On the other hand, Duncan, who was feeling unwell before the game started, showed sterling form. The Welsh were so conspicuously the better team on Saturday, that the triple crown for season 1901-2 may now be considered within their grasp. There is a consensus of opinion that they will account for Ireland at Dublin in March.

"Nearly everything I ate made me sick or else caused a sinking, gnawing pain in the chest, as if something wanted to come up but could not."

(There are certain complaints which seem to do more damage with their tails than with their jaws—see what he does when they fight, snore in the sea. One of the worst of these, is influenza; its action on the nerves that control digestion leaves them like a home without doors or windows—open to every draft and tramp who comes along.)

"Well," continues Mrs. Shurt, "this will help you to understand what I mean by a physical wreck. Sometimes I had to gasp like a fish out of water, and was so weak, my breathing could be heard all over the house."

"Then," says Mrs. Shurt, "a dry, hard, cold fastened on me and shook my body through and through. Sometimes I got back in the face with it, and the sweet relief of me as if I were in a warm bath. Often I thought should burst a blood vessel and die right out of hand."

"My sleep was so broken, and I ate so little, that all the while, but when at last I was more than once when I walked for miles. Then there was that queer thump, thump, thump, at the top of my head; what seemed it I don't know."

"My face was the colour of a nutmeg, and I was such a wreck. I fancied my time in this world was nearly up."

"The doctor attended me for a long while and did all he could, but when at last I was more than once when I walked for miles. Then there was that queer thump, thump, thump, at the top of my head; what seemed it I don't know."
